

At least until Monday according to the Birmingham News breaking news blog. That will be the earliest that the judge hearing arguments about whether or not Larry Langford gets to serve his term or not will be able to make a decision. Check out the post for more information.

I figured it was high time to share my thoughts on yesterday's inauguration and recent events. The first of what will become a more regularly scheduled posting over on my Birmingham. Today's ramble stems from one simple gesture made at yesterday's inauguration.