

Current city seal

New city logo

Well, that's not necessarily one of the opinions being offered up by one of the commenters to The News' online poll this morning about Birmingham, AL's new logo, but there's still time; it may come up.

Just in case you missed it, the new logo was first unveiled with the launch of the city's revamped website on January 1 (and only then if you really looked around on the site, particularly one of the headers, like we suggested). The reaction's been mixed, though lively. Add your comments to the discussion, or you can always write something here too and keep it on topic.

UPDATED: 5.27.2008 to reflect that city seal is still in use in tandem with city logo, per comment by Dystopos.