

...has been delayed due to technical problems. Those folks waiting for John and the other folks regular morning post – just stay tuned. We'll post it as soon as service is restored.

Some of you visiting the front page this morning may also be wondering just where the traffic is this morning. Keep on scrolling and you should find it (otherwise the Terminal elves have some explaining to do).