

While yours truly flies back into Birmingham tomorrow evening after a cold (but productive) week in Washington, DC, you need to be checking out Christina's picks for activities and Sam's picks for music today for this weekend (and show your appreciation to them and the rest of the staff for the work they've done this week.) Hopefully we'll have Terri's "In Love With" column up later this evening (after my second test that is...). And if you haven't seen Trav's interview with our own John Morse about another aspect of his life over on Timetable, get over there now!

For those wondering where this week's edition of the express is - it will arrive in your inbox sometime tomorrow afternoon.

And (though I doubt it) if you're asking yourself "Why's André up in the Nation's Capital?", check out the return (finally) of my column over on my Birmingham on Monday morning and this section of the site all next week to find out.

P.S. there is no staff meeting this week. Our next meeting will be on Saturday, February 2.
