

The Birmingham Water Works formally announced Stage 3 drought restrictions this morning during a news conference. The information posted yesterday is accurate; the links have been activated on the BWW site.

That post provides additional information about the restrictions and additional rules. Note that individual cities in the area may impose stricter regulations.