

You'd think that there were enough "most" polls out there, but we've found one more. As people prepare to enjoy a hot day out and around the metropolitan area (whether you're downtown for City Stages or catching that sale out on 280), we've been deemed as the 25th sweatiest city in the U.S.

At least that's what Old Spice has determined that we're worthy of the honor. Who's the sweatiest city? That honor would once again go to Phoenix, AZ. They've incidentally "won" the honor four out of the six years that the company has been doing the survey.
