

If you've got the National Geographic Channel available to you this afternoon at 4 p.m., you may want to tune in and cheer on Trussville's Hunter Bledsoe competes as one of the ten finalists in this year's National Geographic Bee in Washington, DC. this morning beginning at 9 a.m. CT.

Yes, we'll already know if he's won or placed by then, as the results will be available by 11:30 CT on National Geographic's website (we're going to try to share that information with you as soon as it is posted). If you want to watch it later on, it is scheduled to come on WBIQ (Birmingham's local PBS station) at 10 a.m. tomorrow morning, so set your TiVo. If you live somewhere else and were just looking for when you could watch it in your town, click here to view the list courtesy of Maryland Public Television.

Photo: Hunter Bledsoe courtesy of National Geographic Society