

Back in May Christina gave us a few options for finding fresh produce in the Magic City. Well, you can add at least three more options to that list. The Park Place Farmer's Market started up its third season last Wednesday in Linn Park; they'll keep on going until August 27 from 10 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.

The folks over at Jones Valley Urban Farm invite you over to the Gardens of Park Place to pick up produce between 4 - 6 p.m. at their after-work farm stand. It's available Monday - Thursday through August and Tuesdays only from September to April.

Those living on the city's East side can head over to the South East Lake Farmers Market at 78th Street and 2nd Avenue South every Saturday through October 25 for fresh produce.

Let us know if there are any others that we're missing...
