

Thanks to our friends at the Birmingham Public Library for forwarding this over to us. Mayor Langford has instructed all City departments and as a result, ALL locations in the city library system will now be closed tomorrow and Friday, resuming their regular schedules on Saturday (so if you were planning on grabbing some books or videos, today would be the day). It will be the first time that the library is not operating during regular business hours on July 3.