

Sorry guys and gals. I just spent some time adding items to the Terminal calendar, something I need to do more often (Hint, hint: Submit your events, your friends' events, even stuff you hear about and I'll do my best to get the info up somewhat quicker than slower). And I had this nagging feeling that I'd forgotten to do something. And then it hit me, I needed to take out the trash. Then I remembered the mayor gave everyone the day off. But not me. I won't take the day off from telling you about this weekend; read on.