

The Tuscaloosa News' Tommy Stevenson ponders this question for us in a post on his blog. The idea of prolific yet controversial architect Frank Gehry producing work in the Magic City is definitely a question worth pondering.

Stevenson provides some interesting answers to his question via photographs of our city's skyscrapers (taken during City Stages). They show them in a way that many would say only Mr. Gehry might appreciate.

Check it out and let us know what you think.