

acnatta/Flickr

We headed over to Homewood's Central Park early this morning (approximately 7 a.m.) to get this photo - probably one of the last of the skate park ramps before they were disassembled today (al.com video) following last night's vote by the city's Parks and Recreation Board to take them down because of increased issues.

What do you think?