

For those of you who have been following the hub a while, you may have noticed that Timetable contributor Terri Dann has been silent in recent months. Well, a while back she and I had talked and decided that with planning for her wedding her portion of the In Love With column could wait...

Well, Terri and tied the knot with Ben Osborne on Saturday. Congratulations to both of you!

FYI - Mrs. Osborne let us know that she hopes to return to the column next month (maybe even with a piece about how much she's happy that wedding planning is over!). Now if I can remember to change her name on the site before then...
