

Why not ask Brian - or at least check out his blog posts. We noticed a great deal of interest from our newsletter subscribers when we included his blog, Brian Commutes By Bike, in our Five Links section of our e-newsletter this past Friday, so we figured there may be several of you that may be interested as well.

The blog's title says it all, or at least we hope it does. You may even get a chance to hear about some of the things we miss during our regular commutes...
