

A lot of folks love the nuggets made available on our site weekeday mornings courtesy of BhamWiki. Now they've made it so you can get information from them even more often.

They've recently created their own BhamWiki Twitter profile, we think in part to expose people to everything that's on it. We also think it's a great way to maybe get some more folks interested in getting involved with the project. We're definitely planning to use the wiki more often as our site begins to morph yet again.