

The new trend in the greening of America is the removal of trays from college cafeterias from Ohio to California). Birmingham's own Samford University has joined in on the fun, leading to several degrees of reactions on the school's campus. Here's the story courtesy of the Samford Crimson. There's also this piece (and the three pages of comments) over at Slashfood. Some food for thought (and hopefully for comments here too).
