

We've spent most of the day in meetings with some of our fellow media outlets (some planned, some unplanned), leading to the silence on this Monday morning. We'd like to thank them (you know who you are) for taking some time to pow wow about some things. Hopefully we'll see some of you at The J. Clyde (who appear ready to enter the world of blogging themselves) this evening (Monday, November 17) for an impromptu Terminally Happy Hour (we should be there at 5:30 p.m.); otherwise, keep your eyes open for some minor tweaks to the site beginning tomorrow...

...and let us know if you can make our Holiday Get Together on December 5th (at Speakeasy) - let us know over on Facebook if you'll be able to make it).