

No, we don't know where the locations will be (or even when they'll open), but the word is that a local investor has announced plans to open two locations of Sandella's Flatbread Cafe here in Birmingham, AL next year.

I'd suggest checking out their website to learn more about them (since they'd probably do a much better job than we would).