Screenshot of the new Dean and Company website.

So, those of us that have cable service here in Birmingham, AL are familiar, or at least know about Dean and Company. They've been on television for 30 years and now they've got a website. They were on Rick and Bubba this morning to formally launch it and It's just as off the wall and… well, you go ahead and take a look for yourselves.