

I think that The Terminal will take some advice from one of our readers who hinted that he didn't want to see another year in review story or predictions about Birmingham, AL for 2009...

Those who've survived this year behind the scenes here will leave that job of interpreting up to you over on Magic City Question, starting today.

What I will do is take a few moments to explain the site's recent silence over on My Birmingham (but only after giving a quick shout out to the Rutgers Scarlet Knights for their victory in the Papa Johns.com Bowl!).