

Screenshot of new al.com front page.

They've been getting those of us throughout the state ready for it for weeks, and this afternoon, AL.com's new design was launched. Before the critics point this out, yes, you can find a similar look on other sites associated with them, including nj.com. Now with that out of the way...

Click on the screenshot to head on over there (or here) and take a look around.