

As we continue to grow over here at The Terminal, we're always looking for more writers to help us cover as much of Birmingham as possible. We'll be having a meeting for those of you that are interested in writing for the site tomorrow evening starting around 5:45 p.m. at Speakeasy 1920 (1920 3rd Avenue North).

There are several stories that need to be covered in the coming weeks and if you're willing to write for the fun of it (at least for right now), please feel free to join us. If you can't and are still interested, please contact us however you see fit.