

We continue to see more people announcing that they'll be trying to get the job of Birmingham's chief executive come December 8. Tomorrow Scott Douglas, the executive director of Greater Birmingham Ministries, will be formally announcing that he's joining the race for mayor.

Douglas' campaign website appears to be a placeholder currently, while his campaign's fan page on Facebook is reporting that his announcement will take place at 10 a.m. at Kelly Ingram Park.

Looks like Bhamwiki will get to add a few more names to their list...