

This morning the line went out the door while another line was going around the building.

The photo shows both of those lines as they looked at 6 a.m. this morning.

Yes, metro Birmingham's first Dunkin' Donuts in some time opened at 5 a.m. this morning to a crowd of transplants and other fans. The Boston, MA based donut chain had first announced plans to open as many as 72 locations back in 2007 with a final plan for 21 announced last March.

According to The Birmingham News, Pelham's finest had to stop by to let them know that motorists were upset by the traffic backup along Highway 119. Don't worry, it'll be open until 10 p.m. today. You may even get a chance to run into someone you already know over there around lunchtime...

Photo: Pelham's running on Dunkin. acnatta/Flickr.