

We figured you're wondering "Just what's going on over there?"

Well...

we've just posted Terri Dann's debut story on The Terminal about tomorrow evening's Hand In Paw event (it took longer to post than we thought it would). Now if we can just make sure we can get her name into the backend of this thing...

We've also been reminded about The Spots' live recording session at Speakeasy tonight, we're doing a test run of This Day in Birmingham history in about 90 minutes, we've just secured additional door prizes for the launch party (they'll be up this afternoon on the event's info page) and...

We're feeling a little hungry, so we're going to hang out at Matthew's Bar and Grill (quick blurb here) this evening starting about 5:30 p.m. (probably earlier, but its safe to say 5:30 p.m.)

If you feel like coming on down and picking our editor's brain, go ahead and do it. (No, they don't have their liquor license yet, but you know, it's pretty hot anyway and some water or tea may just be the thing to hit the spot).