

There seems to be a renewed interest in capturing snapshots of Birmingham's daily activities. Scott Schablow has recently tweeted about wanting to reorganize a lunchtime photowalking group (contact him directly if you're interested) while the Magic City Flickr Group started sharing their photo of the day via the popular microblogging network.

We're even using the photos submitted via Flickr to our Terminal Flickr Group as part of our Late Arrivals post at the end of the day (we're adding another way to submit photos to the site tomorrow). There are several photo blogs in metro Birmingham as well - so why not add the names and URLs of those sites to the comments section...
