

Yes, for those of you that have noticed the big crane atop Red Mountain this morning, there is a new sign joining Vulcan and the transmission towers today. WBRC's red neon glow will now be joined in the coming days by an NBC peacock courtesy of our local affiliate station.

They did tell us that it was going to happen sooner or later (and we mentioned it in this post). The word from the station during their midday broadcast was that it would be turned on by next week.

What do you think about this change from atop the city?