

There have been several national chains that have recently announced plans to expand or reopen in the Birmingham metropolitan area. That's a good thing as it shows how people outside the region view the economic climate in the area. But we're a local website, so what we'd like to know is, what's your favorite locally owned business and why?