

I just wanted to warn you that you're going to see a little less traffic than normal from us this morning. Yeah, part of it may be the rain (though we're extremely grateful), but we're also busy finishing up two more interviews for our candidates series beginning on Monday. Mayor Kincaid and Willie Hendrix have committed to being interviewed. We have still not received word from Commissioner Larry Langford's campaign.

There are still a couple of posts that will go up this morning, but you'll see the bulk of our stories today after 1 p.m.

Enjoy the rain and stay dry!