

We're looking forward to this evening's mayoral forum at WorkPlay. You can check out this Election '07 calendar entry to find out more details about this evening's event at WorkPlay.

Our plan (or André's plan) is to hang out in the bar beginning at 5:30 p.m. He may even have some t-shirts to give away this evening to those that can spot him (not that spotting André working on a laptop during happy hour in a bar is that hard).

He'll be collecting your comments about the forum and sharing them on the site. So check in with him when you get there this evening.

Oh yeah, and check out his quotes in this morning's Birmingham News article about young professionals' interest in this election.