

Minor league baseball officials and executives have decided to call Birmingham their home away from home for the next 3½ days for the 2007 Minor League Promotional Seminar. Representatives are also here from several minor league hockey teams, the PGA Nationwide tour and... wait for it... the University of Tennessee according to this post on the Midwest League site.

They'll venture out to both Regions Park and Rickwood Field. Now, since minor league baseball folks are known for being a little on the creative side with regards to activities, we're keeping our eyes open. Nobody has said that anything is going to happen, but that doesn't mean that it won't.

We're really posting this for those folks that may want a job, since there is a job fair at the event (it's over at the Sheraton downtown).
