

Yes, that's what I said. The author of The InTown Green/Urban Upscale Minute wants you to move and pay attention to some of the historic neighborhoods in Birmingham. It also sounds like we may have another suggestion for what to call the Magic City's city center.

It's still early, but it looks as if the author's focus is going to be the northern areas of the city. Time will tell though as it is brand new.

Go on over and check it out! You might also want to check out this website about Historic Norwood.
