

There's a new Baptist Health Center sign on the building that originally housed the Ensley Theatre along Avenue E on Birmingham's west side. It is a more public declaration of the announcement last September of Dr. Roswell Ashford's joining the Baptist Health Centers and Baptist Princeton Medical Center.

This photo was taken as crews were finishing up the installation on Thursday, March 27. The OB/GYN practice opened in late 2012 as an affiliate of Jefferson Clinic, P.C., and is located blocks away from the current Western Health Center, an urgent care clinic, and the Bethesda Life Center. It's also a block away from the 10-story, long-vacant Ramsay-McCormack Building. Princeton Baptist recently announced Ashford would have office hours on their main campus on Tuesday afternoons beginning next week (April 1).
