

The Alabama Booksmith is hosting Michael Knight tonight at 6pm. He's signing his new book The Holiday Season. The book contains two novellas exploring loss, loneliness and family. This is a book that had the New York Book Review calling Knight "... authentic and intense."

And then Saturday, at 3:30 p.m., Wayne Greenhaw will stop by The Alabama Booksmith to sign his latest, Ghosts on the Road. With this latest release, Greenhaw fans will be treated to a peek at his "poet's soul" as they flip through page after page of "portraits..." which he describes as "...snatches of myself, my observations, my life that has been so enhanced by loved ones and great friends, some of whom I remember here."

trav blogs regularly at {head}:sub/head, about reading, publishing, books and Birmingham.
